Who makes the important decisions in your organization Strategy, product development, budgeting, compensationsuch key decisions typically are made by company leaders. Thats what bosses are for, right But maybe the boss isnt the best person to make the call. Thats the conclusion Dennis Bakke came to, and he used it to build AES into a Fortune 200 global power company with 27, 000 people in 27 countries. He used it again to create Imagine Schools, the largest non-profit charter-school network in the U. S. As a student at Harvard Business School, Bakke made hundreds of decisions using the case-study method. He realized two things: decision-making is the best way to develop people; and that shouldnt stop at business school. So Bakke spread decision-making throughout his organizations, fully engaging people at all levels. Today, Bakke has given thousands of people the freedom and responsibility to make decisions that matter. In The Decision Maker, a leadership fable loosely based on Bakkes experience, the New York Times bestselling author shows us how giving decisions to the people closest to the action can transform any organization. The idea is simple. The results are powerful. When leaders put real control into the hands of their people, they tap incalculable potential. The Decision Maker, destined to be a business classic, holds the key to unlocking the potential of every person in your organization. This item ships from multiple locations.
